

COMPANY PROFILE INFORMATION

The Atlanta Corporate Challenge (ACC) will be publishing an online games newsletter filled with information about the year's events. The ACC newsletter will be distributed electronically to all participants and is available for viewing online at www.atlantacorporatechallenge.com

Included in the ACC Games Newsletter is information about each event (including dates and locations), a map showing the location of each event.

Also included in the magazine is a (50-word) profile of each company participating in the ACC Games. You are responsible for submitting this information to ACC for inclusion in this newsletter. It's a great way to tell everyone about your organization, and to learn a little bit more about your competition! We need this information from you by Friday, March 10, 2023, to ensure your company is represented in the 2023 ACC Games online newsletter. In addition to collecting your company profile information we will be collecting your company count information. Please see below for details on company count information and as well as the form to submit your profile and company count.

Company Count:

Your company count represents the number of ACC-eligible employees that COULD participate – not necessarily the number of people that plan to participate. Please refer to the ACC Eligibility Requirements when determining your company count. These counts must be submitted on your company letterhead. We only need the total count; you are not required to include each eligible employee's name. Please note, this is the official number which will be used in determining the 2023 ACC Divisions.
